Confessions of a bad mother's daughter.

My mother always says that she prefers to spend her free time - off work, that is - with us: my younger brother Jack and me. So, rather than cleaning up the house and cooking dinner for us on weekdays, she hires Miss Porter, who comes to our house to do those things (we all love her cooking!) - and we go cycling, jogging, walking with our dog, or just have ice cream and tell her about school. Of course, we still have time to do our homework or socialise online in the evenings, but we all like our quality time with her. Is she a bad mother? What do you think? Please write with your comments.

A is advising readers on how to spend free time with their mother.

B wants to hear readers' opinions of what makes "a bad mother".

C gives her definitions of "a bad mother".
